Works in Progress

Funded research projects:

“The Future of US-Taiwan-China Relations.” This project is jointly funded by the Tower Center and the Government of Taiwan ($20K) and co-directed with Professor Seyom Brown (Director of Studies in the Tower Center), Professor Alex Tan (Fellow in the Tower Center), Professor Hiroki Takeuchi (Assistant Professor of Political Science and Faculty Fellow in the Tower Center), and Professor Tim Chen (Research Associate in the Tower Center).

“The Future of Conflict: Roles and Missions of the Services.” Tower Center program in national security and defense (2008-present) underwritten by a gift ($125K in seed money) from the Raytheon Company, and co-organized with Professor Seyom Brown.

“The Elephant and the Dragon: Economic Development and Rule of Law in Contemporary India and China.” Joint project with the Tower Center, SMU School of Law Program on International Finance and Banking, and INSI, University of Wisconsin, School of Law, 2008-present.

“Japan’s New Nationalism: How Japan’s National Identity is Changing at Home and Abroad.” Tower Center Japan Studies Sun & Star Conference and SMU Asian Studies Symposium, spring, 2008. Co-organized with Diana Newton, Senior Fellow in the Tower Center, Professor Hiroki Takeuchi, Assistant Professor of Political Science at SMU, and Professor Thomas Berger, Associate Professor of International Relations at Boston University. An edited volume based on the conference is under review at Cambridge University Press.

“Free Trade in the Americas: Can the ‘Washington Consensus’ be revived?” This project

(2007-09) was funded by the Owens Foundation ($35K) and the Government of Canada ($10K). The purpose was to review the free trade in the Americas initiative and the reaction to it in the major states of North and South America.

“The Next Generation Project: U.S. Global Policy and the Future of International Institutions.”

This is a multi-year project (2006-08) co-organized with the American Assembly at Columbia University. The first Assembly was held in the Tower Center at SMU in October, 2006. The second Assembly was held at IRPS, University of California at San Diego in February, 2007. The final Assembly will be held at the Woodrow Wilson Center in Washington in early fall, 2008. I am a member of the Steering Committee and served as fellow and co-organizer for the Dallas Assembly, and a mentor for the San Diego Assembly.

“Trade, Migration and Development,” with the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank and the Woodrow Wilson Center. This is a study of the relationship between trade, migration and development, with a special focus on the role of remittances. A conference was held in October, 2006 and results will be published initially in the Proceedings of the Dallas Fed.

“The Budget Challenge: Constraints on Fiscal Policy in the G-7 Countries,” with Dennis Ippolito. This is a project in comparative political economy and public policy, funded by the Woodrow Wilson Center in Washington, DC, the Institute for Research on Public Policy (IRPP) in Montréal the European Commission and the European University Institute (EUI), The International Financial Law Unit of Queen Mary and Westfield College, University of London, and the John Goodwin Tower Center for Political Studies at SMU (see fellowships and grants above).

“North American Integration: Trade, Migration and Security.” This project was launched in Spring, 2003, jointly with the Tower Center at SMU, the Owens Foundation, the Institute for Research on Public Policy (IRPP) in Montréal, and the Colegio de Mexico in Mexico City. Two edited volumes have been produced from this project, the first published in the Law and Business Review and the second, The Integration of North America: Dialogue, Political Cooperation and Institutions, is forthcoming by the press of the Colegio de Mexico.

“Immigration in a Sun-belt City: The Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex.” An interdisciplinary project to study the process of immigrant incorporation in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex. Funded by the National Science Foundation (see fellowships and grants above). A multi-authored book based on the study is in preparation.

“Magnet Societies: Immigration and Citizenship in Postwar Germany and the United States,” with Dietrich Thranhardt. This is a three-year project (1998-2001) in comparative public policy, funded by the Transcoop Program of the German American Academic Council, the Evangelische Akademie, Locum, and the Tower Center at SMU (see above). The project is currently in its third of three years, and the final conference was held in June, 2000 in Locum, Germany. The results of the project have been published in an edited volume (Palgrave/Macmillan, 2007).

Grants and Contracts Pending/Under Reivew:

“Comparative Political Economy.” This is a multi-year project with the Tower Center, DIW, Berlin and DC, the IZA in Bonn, and the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation (German American Academic Council) to understand the political, economic and social factors that drive immigration policy towards more or less openness in Germany, the United States, and Canada. A proposal is in draft form to be submitted to the Humboldt Foundation.

“The New Left and the Sustainability of Market Reforms in Latin America.” This is a one-year project with the Tower Center and the Tinker Foundation. Under the direction of Professor Luigi Manzetti, a proposal for $100K will be submitted to the Tinker Foundation in March, 2009.
