Part B. CV SUMMARY (max. 3500 characters, including spaces)

I have a BA degree in Economics by Universidad Pompeu Fabra (1996) and a PhD in Quantitative Economics by the University of Alicante (2003) under the QED doctoral program of the Department of Economic Analysis. I worked as Assistant Professor in Alicante's Department from 1997 to 2001, and at the Department of Statistics at Carlos III University in 2001. In 2002 I earned a 2-years position at the University of Madeira as a predoctoral research fellow in a long-duration competitive project (code: HPSE-CT-2002-00108) financed under the 7th Framework Programme of the European Commission. After the project, I was hired as an Associate Professor and became Scientific Coordinator of the CEEApIA, a Portuguese research centre regarded as "Excellent" and financed by the Portuguese FCT (2004-2013). In 2013 I returned to Spain and worked as a researcher and assistant professor at different institutions, including the Bank of Spain, U. Pontificia Comillas and IE University. Currently, I serve as Full Professor in Economics at the Department of Business Administration at U. Nebrija.

I am a microeconometrician mostly interested in labour, education, inequality and well-being. At the present time I am pursuing work investigating the role of personality traits, economic status and economic insecurity in determining well-being levels in modern societies. I have published 24 JCR papers and 3 book chapters. I have two certified sexenios (2007-2012, 2013-2018) by the Spanish Comisión Nacional Evaluadora de la Actividad Investigadora.

Participation in projects: Member of long-duration competitive projects financed under the 7th Framework Programme of the European Commission (HPSE-CT-2002-00108), the National I+D+i Plans (ECO2015-63734, ECO2012-36480, ECO2012-33993, ECO2008-04321), the Regional Government of Andalucía (P07.SEJ.03261 and P07.SEJ.0487), Ramón Areces and the Spanish Institute of Fiscal Studies.

Co-editor (2019-) of Cuadernos de Economía - Spanish Journal of Economics and Finance

Experience in evaluation: Regular external evaluator (> 20 times) of research teams and National I+D+i Plans for the Agencia Estatal de Investigación, Subdivisión de Coordinación y Evaluación. More than 40 referee reports for internationally renowned journals including International Economic Review, JEBO, Economics of Education Review, Journal of Economic Inequality and Labour Economics, among others.

Organization: Local organizer of the 3rd scientific meeting among partners involved in the HPSE-CT-2002-00108 European Commission project. Held in 2004, it involved the participation of more than 30 international researchers; Organizer of the 5th CEEApIA Meeting at U. of Madeira (2008).

1 thesis supervision (La estructura de capital-factores explicativos del nivel de endeudamiento y de los diversos proveedores de deuda, by Rafael Rodríguez García), to be presented in March 2019. Two chapters of the thesis have been sent to two JCR journals for possible publication. I have supervised 10 TFM and more than 25 TFGs.

Scientific Coordinator of the CEEApIA (2004-2013), a Portuguese research centre that comprises more than 15 scholars, regarded as “Excellent” and financed by the Portuguese FCT; IZA Research fellow; Lead Researcher at the Faculty of Social Sciences at U. Nebrija.
